INTO MAINE'S IMMENSE WILDERNESS FOR A CHANGE AND QUIET VACATION

Back Into the Woods, 65 Miles from Greenville, in Vast Forest Domain of Great Northern Paper Co., One Hears Few Sounds of Civilization—Three Miles of Rough Travel by Buckboard—"Mink of the Dam Site"—Steel Fisherman's Trout—An Old Toy Maker of the Woods
(By Chas. G. Jenness, Rochester, N. H. Courier)

At last, after a lapse of many years, years since with a longing to be far removed from the ordinary haunts and haunts of men and from the almost ceaseless hum of human industry, I have found the real wilderness. The morning break of the hurrying automobile, the rumble and whistle of the railroad locomotive, the noisy passenger train, the solemn tolling of the church bell, the shrill sound of the fire alarm, the busy message of the town crier, the bustling and bustling of the city, the factory whistle—such things are ever-present noises of civilization. I have no part in this little spot of wilderness, and I have no part in the life of the people who live here. I have no part in the life of the people who live here. I have no part in the life of the people who live here.

The good dirt road, built mostly by the Northern Paper Co., one can travel the road by auto to within five miles of the wilderness. The road is a narrow strip of a well-kept road, with a pair of stout horses. Through the forest, for a distance of five miles, the road has been built to reach us. The road is a narrow strip of a well-kept road, with a pair of stout horses. Through the forest, for a distance of five miles, the road has been built to reach us.

Maine wilderness. For fourteen years his lonely cabin home was at Mountain Pond, four miles away from the frequent-traveled path of men. Here, in his shop by the side of the road, he makes and sells toy furniture. His face plainly bespeaks a personage of far more than ordinary intelligence, a man who undoubtedly has seen better days. His language is that of a cultured gentleman, not of a backwoodsman, a lumberjack, a river driver. "I suppose you are disappointed and happy here?" I ventured to ask him. He was taking a huge coffee pot from the fire, having previously removed one big, round stove cover and had the pot down on the blazing log. "Oh no," he said, rather with an air of sadness. "Perhaps I am something of a philosopher. I am reasonably happy, but who of us is ever really content?" And he looked me square in the eye. "Oh no," he continued, covering the hole in the stove top, we can't be content, absolutely content. When we reach that state of mind all progress ceases." Then he told of how he came to leave his hill-top home. He was growing old. Was somewhat crippled with rheumatism. He had a son, a young man, who was a carpenter and a painter. He had a son, a young man, who was a carpenter and a painter. He had a son, a young man, who was a carpenter and a painter.

The Story Of Spunk

A Splendid Tale of Canine Courage and Loyalty
"Spunk, Leader of the Dog Team" by Arthur O. Bartlett. W. A. White Company. Taken from the Boston Herald.

Mr. Bartlett, a young Boston newspaper man, has written a story for all dogs to cherish. There are few stories that have a wider appeal than the story of a dog. The story of a dog is a story of loyalty and courage. The story of a dog is a story of loyalty and courage. The story of a dog is a story of loyalty and courage. ing his decision on a test once made by Solomon himself, left the dog in the care of the boy.

That is the beginning. Later Sam's relations with Jacques, who is a boot-lagger as well as a driver of dog teams, gets more entangled. Then there is Happy Hunt, another French Canadian, but one with quite a different disposition. Between those two and Mr. Spenser, a big, hearty visitor from the city, both Sam and Spunk get their chance in the big dog race, and in life in general. The story of that race is a far more exciting one than was ever chronicled in the newspapers when the winter sports have been on, and much more dependent on its outcome.

"Spunk, Leader of the Dog Team" is more than a book for boy readers. Any lover of dogs and of winter sports will find it an engrossing story. This is Mr. Bartlett's first book, but the skill he shows in building his plot, the understanding with which he develops his characters, and his happy choice of the right word and the right phrase mark him as a young writer worth watching. The story of that race is a far more exciting one than was ever chronicled in the newspapers when the winter sports have been on, and much more dependent on its outcome.

Boys' and Girls' Club Contest

The annual contest of the Oxford County Boys' and Girls' Clubs was held Tuesday afternoon and evening at South Paris Grange Hall. A large number attended with many excellent exhibits displayed around the hall. Competition was keen, with the judges confronted with a difficult task of awarding prizes.

The program opened with an address of welcome by Ralph R. Butts, vice president of South Paris Board of Trade. Miss Charlotte Longley of Norway responded. After singing club songs and giving the cheers to arouse enthusiasm, C. Henry Sweet, South Paris, described in detail the trip to Springfield. After the lunch, served by the Merry Maids of South Paris, the young people attended a matinee performance at the Strand Theatre, and visited the high school. An appetizing oyster supper, provided by the South Paris Board of Trade and Merchants' Association, was served by the Grange. More cheers, remarks by the guests, and a social time, closed the exercises at an early hour, for many had long distances to travel. This was one of the most successful meetings ever held.

Prizes amounting to $250 were provided by the Paris Trust Co., South Paris Savings Bank, Norway National Bank, Norway Savings Bank, and Bethel Savings Bank. Lettie H. Shultz, state club leader, and Miss Mildred G. Brown, assistant leader, were the judges.

Home Made Candies, Ice Cream and Pop Corn

J. H. FLETCHER

The Quaker Oil Stove is an entirely new type of heater. It makes oil heat, with all its advantages, available to homes without heating plants.

This stove eliminates dirt and labor from heating. It eliminates shovelling and carrying in coal, splitting wood, carrying out ashes, tending the stove. It enables you to start a fire in the morning or any time you need it by merely turning on the oil and dropping a lighted match or a piece of burning newspaper into the stove.

It enables you to keep a low fire for mild days, a hot fire for cold days. It enables you to keep an overnight fire when you need it, without fuss or bother. The only attention the Quaker Oil Stove requires is that you keep it supplied with fuel.

The Quaker Oil Stove can be installed anywhere a coal stove can be used. It is as easy to set up as a coal stove. It requires no special knowledge to operate it. Once installed, it will deliver unflinching heat just as you want it. And it is entirely noiseless.

The Quaker Oil Stove is extremely economical in operation, does not require the use of kerosene, but burns cheap 34-36 gravity oil—furnace oil of the type commonly used by oil burners and available everywhere.

The price of the Quaker Oil Stove is ridiculously low. Despite the fact that it adds the greatest comfort to your home, the price is one everyone can afford.

Lesson for October 17

MOSES HONORED IN HIS DEATH

LESSON TEXT—Deut. 34:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Psalm 136:1-3.

PRIMER TOPIC—Moses Sees the Promised Land.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Death of Moses.
SENIOR TOPIC—The Death of Moses.
ADULT TOPIC—The Death of Moses.

1. Moses Views the Promised Land from Mount Pisgah (vv. 1-4).
At the Lord's bidding Moses ascended the mountain from which he got a view of the promised land. He obeyed, though he knew that he was going to die (Deut. 32:50). He greatly desired to go into the land (Deut. 3:25), but gradually submitted to the will of the Lord. Though he was not permitted to enter the land, God gave him a view in its fullest dimensions of the land which was to be the inheritance of the people which he had delivered out of Egypt for forty years. The reason given by the Lord for refusing an entrance into the land was Moses' failure to sanctify the Lord at Meribah (Deut. 32:51, cf. Num. 20:1-13). This was a sin for which Moses was to die, though Moses had served Him faithfully for many years.

2. The Death and Burial of Moses (vv. 5-9).
His death (v. 5).
Though he died in the vigor of manhood, his work was done. He did not die before his time. God put him into the world for a purpose, and as soon as that work was done He called him home. Though Moses was a great man he was not exempt from death.

3. The burial of Moses (v. 6).
God buried him. Most likely this service was performed by the angels. Likely this is the reason why the Jews never found the body of Moses when they searched for it. The archangel, over the body of Moses (Deut. 34:9).

4. The time of mourning for Moses (v. 8).
They mourned for thirty days. It is not wrong to lay away earthly friends even with tears, but as Christians we should not mourn as those who have no hope. Indeed, it is much better to express our appreciation and love for our friends by showing the proper courtesy and respect while they are alive, than to mourn over them when they are dead.

5. The Successor of Moses (v. 9).
Joshua, who had been the minister of Moses during all the years of the wilderness journey, now became the military leader of the Israelites. That Joshua was a fit man as a leader of the Israelites is seen in the fact that he was full of the spirit of wisdom.

6. While the Lord is not dependent upon human wisdom, He does select as His representatives men whom He has endowed with the proper wisdom.

7. He was divinely ordained for the work at the hand of Moses, "for Moses had laid his hands upon him."

8. This he had done at the command of God (Num. 27:15-21).

9. The people ought as his leader. "The children of Israel hearkened unto him, and did as the Lord commanded Moses."

10. In order for successful leadership a ruler must have the individual affection and allegiance of the people.

11. Encomium Upon Moses (vv. 10-12).
In this eulogy Moses is given a place at the head of the Old Testament prophets. With the exception of the Greater Prophet (Deut. 18:15-18), of whom Moses was a type, he stands as the greatest prophet of Israel.

12. He was great because of his intimacy with God (v. 10), "whom the Lord knew face to face."

13. He was great in that he gave to the world a code of laws unequalled in the world's history.

14. He was great as a general in that he liberated the Israelites from the oppression of the greatest nation of the earth.

15. He was great because he led two or three million Israelites through the desert for forty years.

16. He was great because he gave to us in the book of Deuteronomy three orations which, according to the judgment of competent critics, stand at the head of the world's literature.

17. Faith
What a wonderful faith is faith. She discovers worlds beyond anything found by Columbus. What a freight she carries. Riches beyond the treasures of Solomon's ships of gold. To what a glorious realm she transports—W. L. Watkinson.

18. Looking Into the Future
When we look into the long avenue of the future and see the good there is for each one of us to do, we realize after all what a beautiful thing it is to work, and to live to be happy—Robert Louis Stevenson.

19. Shining and Singing
You may sing "O for the wings of a dove" but it is better to shine in the ways of God. Shining is the best kind of singing, and makes the singer sing to purpose—Prophetic News.

20. It is said that "ex-worship" fly does attack not only cattle, but also men and children. They generally sting cattle in the hoof, the grubs hatch and work their way around through the body. With the men and children the grubs work their way from the legs through the body to the back, stomach, root of tongue and teeth. Fly-Tox against ex-worship fly. Get Fly-Tox from your retailer, always in bottles with blue label.

21. Fly-Tox the milkhouse against flies.

23. Fly-Tox your home. Health authorities recommend it.

24. Fly-Tox the cows before milking.

Journey on Unfamiliar Nearby Roads

We recently rode 87 miles and more than 50 of them were on unfamiliar country roads. It was of a Sunday and few autos were out. Only two or three for 20 or more miles. The roads, with few exceptions, were good.

We went over the cement road to the junction of the old road leading to Oxford. Took road over Allen Hill, passed the South Holbrook farm, with its pile of apple trees beside the stone wall. The trees were loaded with fruit. Many of the limbs were propped up. Some apples had been gathered.

We passed by the Cyrus Hayes farm on Oxford on the way to East Otisfield or "Pugglyville" as it is locally known, thence to Spur's Corner and on to the head of Pleasant Pond. Took the left hand road and passed on the easterly side of that water, coming out the road over Mayberry Hill in Casco, where a beautiful view of the lake is had. On the easterly shores of Pleasant Pond are several summer schools. Camp Truda among them.

We visited with Deputy Sheriff, G. B. Maybury, 81, a one armed soldier of the rebellion. Should he finish the term for which he is in prison, he will have served 14 consecutive years. He is to be in Portland this week and have charge of the Grand Jury at the October term of court. Mr. Maybury is a very capable chairman of the Casco board of selectmen, also secretary of the Little Nigaw cattle fair and for one past eighty, he has few equals if any, in the State. He has two sons, Everts, lives in South Paris, and Roscoe, with him on the farm, and is a partner with Mr. Hancock in the manufacture of a patent fly screen for doors and windows. The mill is located at Casco.

This village really shows marked improvement in the past ten years. Several new houses have been built and others have been painted and fixed over. We imagine it is largely due to the influx of summer business. Especially the summer school located on the shores of Pleasant Pond. Besides the "schools," there are many private camps. Jim Eastman's farm house has become an "inn" and is much changed.

We drove down to the old fair grounds. The fences are no more, neither is the fair or Grand Stand. There is evidence of the race track. The ground has recently been used for the piling or stickup of sawed lumber. Much evidence of that is present. The Nothing farm house is occupied and the store and gas tank is open for trade on week days.

E. A. Barton, deputy sheriff and Advertiser correspondent, has passed to the unknown some years ago. We used to stop with him during our sojourn and race program selling adventures on the fair grounds. It was, however, thirty years ago. Many changes in that time.

We retraced our way back to Casco village and followed the west shore road to Spur's Corner, Otisfield. Here an unknown road was taken. It lay west of the Bell Hill road. Where it went, we knew not, but the direction seemed right. We finally arrived in Bolster's Mills, coming down a steep hill where the road had been recently improved.

We recall some years ago of getting lost in Otisfield and finding it difficult to talk the Finn language. This time we made no inquiry but kept going. We didn't come down the same hill into Bolster's Mills that we did formerly. The road this time came out of that town further south. What it's called we can't say. John Walker of Harrison and Poland Springs tells us it's the John Green Hill. He ought to know.

From Bolster's Mills, which Crooked River divides as to town lines, we followed the Harrison road to "travertine corner" near the old Summer Davis farm. Crossing the main road, we went almost to Island Pond and turning to the left, followed a rocky trail over ledges and rocks for nearly a mile before coming to a house. It may have been the road that comes into Baker Hill, Waterford road, at the Millett farm, but it seemed too far for that road.

We soon saw water in front and turned into the first right hand road and were on the east side of Thomas Pond, in Waterford. It is now called Kooka Lake by summer guests and they are numerous in this vicinity during the hot spell.

John Walker is our authority for saying we came into Waterford from Island Pond, over Temple Hill.

Deacon Morse's farm buildings and wind mill were recognized at the end of a road. We wonder if he has a big lot of McIntosh Reds this fall? We kept straight on to the Five Corners, now minus a schoolhouse. Here we crossed the three road to Norway. We wanted to see Will Chadbourne's farm. He is a pine tree lumberman. We bore to the left and missed it. The car followed a narrow, bush-grown trail for half a mile or so and came to a good set of buildings on the right. It was the home of a Finn with a large family. Fortunately one of the young men could talk our language. We were told that we were on Hemlock Hill in Waterford. He didn't seem much acquainted with the geography of the locality or Will Chadbourne. He said, keep straight on down the hill and we'd come to the Waterford state road. It was all right for a car. He drove his car over it. A big car was sitting in the doorway. T. S. Sanderson lived on this farm some fifty years ago. J. E. Bryant was a neighbor a little distance back near where the road turned to Mr. Chadbourne's. There are no buildings visible or at least we failed to see them.

The road came down a steep, wooded hill, trees covering and arching in the roadway, which finally lead to plains land fairly well covered with pines and cut up with trails. We kept to one showing the most travel and came out to the North Waterford road leading to Bisbetown.

Here we were acquainted and knew the way to Norway.

SOUTH RUMFORD

Hubbards On Way to Florida—Interesting Farm Bureau Meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hubbard and daughter, Alma, started for their winter home in St. Petersburg, Florida, the first of this week after spending the week-end with Mr. Hubbard's sister and family in Danville. They have their camping outfit with them and will camp nights, staying with Lila Lapham in South Carolina one night.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Jacobs were guests of Mrs. Jacobs' brother, Ed Goodwin and family, in Shapleigh last week. They passed the week-end with Mr. Jacobs' people in Stroudwater.

Herbert Berry and his son-in-law, Mr. Moore from Dryden were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wyman.

There was a most interesting farm bureau meeting with Mrs. Dora St. Pierre, Thursday, Oct. 7, with five guests present. A box of Christmas suggestions, contributed by other farm bureaus, and added to by this one, was enjoyed and many patterns taken from the legs through the body to the back, stomach, root of tongue and teeth. Fly-Tox against ex-worship fly. Get Fly-Tox from your retailer, always in bottles with blue label.

Mrs. Mary Gammon and guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Larkin in Peru.

George Pye and Ira Gammon, also Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cametson and son, Marshall, went to Waterford Fair, Saturday.

Who shall inherit the earth?—Matthew 5:5.

Inez and Arthur Briggs spent Saturday at Bryant's Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Lovejoy and Mrs. Carrie French were at A. R. Tuell's, Thursday.

Mrs. Mary Stevens, Minnie Stevens and Mrs. Esther Tuell visited at F. R. Andrews, Thursday.

HUNT'S CORNER AND VICINITY

Charles Becker Gaining—Work Resumed on State Road—Grange Won Second Prize—Sunday Service at 6:30 Next Sunday.

Sibyl Cummings returned home, Tuesday.

Work on the state road was resumed, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Ballard spent the week end at Allen Cummings'.

Nearly everyone attended the World's Fair, Friday and Saturday. Round Mountain Grange won the 2nd prize with their exhibit of fruit, fancy work, cooked food, etc.

Allen Cummings dug potatoes for W. I. Becker one day last week.

Bath Cummings, Alta Bird and children and Allen Cummings took dinner at Albert Ledger's camp, Sunday.

Harlan Bumpus and sisters went on an auto trip through Upton, Sunday.

Fred Gorman was thrown from his wagon, Saturday, when his horse was frightened by a motor cycle. He was badly scratched and bruised and his shoulder dislocated.

There will be no morning service on Sunday School next Sunday, as Mrs. Ives will preach at 6:30 P. M.

OTISFIELD GORE

School Preparing Entertainment for Box Supper—Grange Meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Gould of Norway spent Friday with their granddaughter, Mrs. Albert Brackett.

Mrs. Albert Brackett, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Glover and Elizabeth joined them for the afternoon.

Our teacher, Miss Bessie Durrell, and pupils are preparing a raised program for Oct. 15, when the school holds a box supper.

Frederick Robie Grange met in regular session Saturday evening. A short program of chorus singing, a reading and a duet was enjoyed. Crackers, cheese, doughnuts and coffee were also enjoyed by a goodly number. A few games followed, marches etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Glover and son Charles, were supper guests of Mrs. Glover's sister, Mrs. Claude Thomas, on Wednesday.

Mrs. Ralph Freeman spent Thursday afternoon there.

BETHEL

Fire Damaged Holden Hall—Remains of Mrs. John M. Gould Buried in Riverside—B. B. Richardson and Family from Ipswich, Mass. Visiting Here.

Miss Luella Boothby of Melrose, Mass., has been a guest of Mrs. O. M. Mason and daughter, Mrs. E. B. Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dunn were here recently, on account of the illness of their mother, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Asa Bartlett.

The damage to Holden Hall was greater than at first estimated when a fire which started in the laundry, Thursday evening, although it was subdued shortly, smoke and water extended to other rooms so there are six at least to be repaired, as well as damaged walls and roof, and utensils.

D. G. Brooks and Mrs. Brooks were in Boston, recently.

Clyde Bean, wife and daughter, Abigail, were visitors at the home of Mrs. Bean's mother, Mrs. Albert Richardson, daughter, Mrs. Blanche Howe and family, over the week end. Their home is in Gorham, N. H.

Several from Bethel Grange attended Pomona Grange which met with Bear Mt. Grange, South Waterford.

The friends of Charles Becker are sorry for his continued illness. Mr. Becker was taken ill while directing the work on the state road in Albany as he is commissioner in that town.

E. F. Peterkin was in Roxbury and Andover, recently.

The remains of Mrs. John M. Gould of Portland were brought here for burial in Riverside Cemetery, Friday, Oct. 8. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Twitchell, whose home was in the little village of Mayville. Her husband, Major John Gould, survives her, also a brother, Dr. Herbert Twitchell, and sister, Mrs. Horatio Upton, and two sons. The sad fate of her daughter Anna, is remembered by many. Mrs. Gould has had a long, useful life. Her husband, Major J. M. Gould, sons Oliver and Theodore and families, accompanied the remains to the cemetery, where many friends and relatives had assembled to pay tribute. Burial services were held, conducted by the Rev. S. T. Achenbach.

Many attended the "World's Fair" at North Waterford and report a big crowd, and a fine display in the hall by the granges and other exhibitors. The desire to meet old friends and new, and make more friends, draws a crowd, and that's where the "World's Fair" comes in.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Peterkin and daughter, Mrs. Marchus Philbrick, attended the Fair.

It is reported that Albert Kimball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abner Kimball, although very ill, shows a slight improvement as the fever has turned for the better.

B. B. Richardson, Mrs. Richardson and daughter, Marion, spent a week with his mother, Mrs. Albert Richardson, and sister, Mrs. Winfield Howe, and family. While here, he took his mother, who is most 80, on a trip to Harrison, through the seven in the party. They enjoyed a picnic, lunch. The daughter, Miss Marion, took the pictures of Dixville Notch that appeared in a September issue of the Boston Herald. She was fortunate in getting the team in the picture. Another trip which was enjoyed by the party was to Kangeley Lake. One feature much enjoyed was the beautiful cats, provided by the thoughtful mistress of the party. This was decided by one vote, which was cast by the driver, Mr. Richardson, whose home is in Ipswich, Mass.

The Brown Red Farm are to have two thousand chicks this week for winter broilers, being shipped from Durham, N. H.

SOUTH ALBANY

Fred Scribner Sold Live Stock and Moved to West Bethel—Guests at Merritt Savin's—Undecided About Picking Apples.

Mrs. Alice Hanley of Rumford is visiting her step daughter, Mrs. W. E. Canwell and family. Marjorie and Edith Canwell were home from Norway High School over the week end and attended the World's Fair at North Waterford.

Fred Scribner has sold his live stock and will close his new Round Oak steel kitchen range. Roy Stearns, agent for the company, made the sale.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crooker and son, Alvin, and Mrs. Stephen Klemm, Richard and Edward Holt of Norway, attended the World's Fair at North Waterford and spent the week end at Merritt Savin's.

Both Holt has finished the season's work at Ben Browne's camps at Lovell, and is at home.

J. Spauld and wife of Rumford spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Ingalls McAllister and attended the World's Fair.

The farmers are undecided about picking their apples as there seems to be no sale for them and as wages are high, it hardly pays.

NORTHEAST LOVELL

Charles Kendall and Mrs. Bert Kendall and daughter, Esther, called on Mr. and Mrs. George Eastman, Tuesday.

Sunday, the 17, there will be Communion services at the Christ Church and we hope to see a large attendance as it is Miss Louisa Horr of Bridgton is staying a few days with her aunt, Clara Harman. Mr. and Mrs. Will Vance were Sunday guests there also.

Charles Kendall of Rochester, N. H., has been spending a few days with his brother, Bert Kendall and family and took in one day at Fryburg Fair.

NORTH WATERFORD, "WORLD'S" FAIR

ESTIMATED 4,000 PRESENT SATURDAY—BEST FALL EXHIBIT IN MANY YEARS—AUTOMOBILES BY THE THOUSANDS

Another World's Fair has come and gone, chalking up another success for the association represented as follows:

Pres.—Harry Brown.
Vice Pres.—L. Knight.
Treas.—J. M. McKen.

North Waterford was certainly on the map October 9-9. Naturally, the first day is not much for the general run of sightseers, for things were getting into shape for the kind of a fair that "rises and falls quickly" as one expressed the situation. Aside from pulling out there wasn't much excitement on Friday.

Saturday opened with fair skies but a cold wind swept the village square. It was evident that ice cream and nice cold drinks would go begging before long. Crowds commenced to gather early. Automobiles rolled into town from the four corners of Oxford County and before noon, door yards adjacent fields and odd nooks were just packed. Parking signs for a price were familiar objects and officials selling the green labels for a quarter were stationed on all roads leading into town. Few escaped the alert officials. Their work was made more effective by the display of a new shiny special police badge that not only added dignity to the job, but squelched arguments. A big roll of money was collected for the missions and ground rentals, with a snap guess that $1,000 and more was collected on this day.

Many improvements to modernize the fair were in evidence, and the show is passing from the "Bill Green" stage established some 44 years ago.

Great interest centered around the Grange Hall, where the best of the many years had been prepared. Apparently the committee—just out of itself in this department and all pulled with a will. The show there was a credit to town, for its variety of articles and originality in a number of displays and the school children were not forgotten by the committee. Exhibits of drawings occupied a conspicuous place and called attention to some clever work. Young farmers to become the producers of tomorrow had their hand with a collection of nice vegetables of their own raising.

Dancing was enjoyed at two places and the halls were crowded during the busy hours.

Two football games late in the afternoon attracted sports to the Saunders field on the Lynchville road. The weather was ideal for the players, but spectators shivered and crawled down into overcoats.

THE FIELD OF FUN
The Field of Fun, another term for the midway, was packed and jammed with roving humanity, ready to grab anything free, but not so generous with their cash. Eating places and Truman's Athletic Show were headliners as money exchangers.

The merry-go-round owned and operated by C. H. Chute of Casco, replaced the ancient rigging operated several years by the late Linwood Flint and afterward by others. Business on this ride was good. Mr. Chute had the machine at River Park the past summer and did good business, considering a long spell of bad weather.

Bob York's chair-lane direct from a carnival company operating in Canada, whirled many on a ride that began a ended in the same place.

Among the prizes won or lost were: Harry Isaacson of Auburn, with men's clothing; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richardson, Norway, were from Fryeburg fair and entered with hot lunches; Mrs. Genera Wright and Mrs. Alice Wright, South Paris, sold homemade candy and occupied about the same location as last year. That time she was nearly flooded with rain, this year old weather nearly froze up the workers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Klein of Portland, formerly of Norway, displayed a nice line of delicate dress goods that attracted the feminine element.

Mrs. Pearl Lewis, in a nurse costume, represented the National Health Service. From a truck she warned the crowd against the use of coal tar products to cure ailments. Several widely advertised patent medicines were recommended as a safe remedy to cure complaints common to thrill-free humanity.

Thelma, "the girl who won't die," attracted fair patronage. The ballyhoos was spectacular in that the damsel entered a small cabinet and the assistant plunged saucers through the top. A good view of the situation of her body might be obtained for two bits. A mirror in the cabinet added something to the attraction of the show.

The vaudeville entertainment featured some twelve performers appearing in dancing, singing and contortion. Prof. Berry, said to be champion bone player in America, was champion. He was an old timer and rattled the ivories like a veteran minstrel. He also entertained at the dances in the hall on both evenings.

Homer Truman, himself a fiddler, played the show, featuring the original John Kilbourn, was the best patronized outfit in the bunch. Kilbourn is a famous wrestler and will know his section, having appeared in Norway Opera House against Truman and other mat artists. Matching Rufford and Bridgton wrestlers against this condition champion naturally boomed the game. Their arguments on the platform outside drew the curious, and at times a free-for-all seemed ready to break out. This small wrestling business was good business and many fall nights were good business and many fall nights were good business and many fall nights were good business.

Angina, the half-calf, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Hurd of Kennebec, was genuine freak that gave the fair good business. The show featured this section last year, and after taking another circuit next fall may be seen here again at some future time. The Hurd is healthy for home after hitting the road since August. Weather is getting too cold for the health of a half-calf, the animal requires hot water bottles and hot blankets, so the great is the care Mrs. Hurd is about played out.

Games of skill were on every hand. Guessing the weight was popular, and driving nails into a joist was a diversion of skill. Selling blankets with lucky tickets went over big at this fair, baby dolls as gifts were much appreciated. Toys, novelties, balloons and lettered ribbons were unloaded upon children and lovers.

Madam Stanley, the clairvoyant of Old Orchard was attractive as usual. A hankering for mystery with a peep into the unknown will never cease to interest a large following, price is of little consequence.

The Skeeters had many sweet grass baskets on sale, but "Chief" Richard Porter Skeeter was not on hand. Approaching cold weather and dampness has driven him to Scarborough where he may be comfortable.

Henry Downs, a familiar figure at fairs the past forty years, was on hand as porter, with the corn brush. The game pays him well.

FEEDING THE CROWD
Dinners and suppers were served in the Congregational Church vestry as in years past. Mrs. Charles A. Hasey, president of the Ladies' Circle, was in charge.

and had the assistance of a large corps of willing helpers. Business was brisk on Friday, but the big rush on Saturday kept everybody on the jump. Chas. Hersey, who sold tickets at the outer doors, juggled the coin for about two hours the last afternoon. The weather was cold, but Mr. Hersey didn't realize the fact in his struggle to collect fares. A long waiting line. It was a good natured crowd that jammed about the entrance, even the tempting odor of delicious food never upset the jolly disposition of the hungry ones on the outside looking in. Probably one thousand persons were served during the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Rice served meals at the once famous Rice Tavern, and had a large business. This place has become headquarters for showmen seeking a real place where home conditions prevail. Dinners were served in several private families outside the grounds and in the Square lunch places were everywhere.

HALL EXHIBITS
"The best hall show we have had in years," was the general comment. There was no doubting the statement for lower hall in the grange building was packed solid. Three granges occupied the hall space not sold to vendors of jewelry. H. M. McKen was in his accustomed place as superintendent of the hall and with his helpers certainly did the job up brown this year.

Bear Mountain Grange of South Waterford awarded the first prize, featuring canned products, fancy work, with embellishments of curious things. One paragon of a nutcracker and powder horn attracted attention as did the best of the many years had been prepared. Apparently the committee—just out of itself in this department and all pulled with a will. The show there was a credit to town, for its variety of articles and originality in a number of displays and the school children were not forgotten by the committee. Exhibits of drawings occupied a conspicuous place and called attention to some clever work. Young farmers to become the producers of tomorrow had their hand with a collection of nice vegetables of their own raising.

Round Mountain Grange, Albany, won the second prize. This exhibit was nicely arranged, showing a large collection of vegetables, traces of corn, tempting samples of cooking and other interesting things. The committee arranging this exhibit comprised Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kimball, Wallace Cummings.

The third prize went to Waterford Grange at North Waterford. This was a nicely arranged display of vegetables, home products, fancies and curiosities placed by Mrs. Guy Morse, Mrs. S. D. Morse, Mrs. Rilla Marston, Mr. and Mrs. George Kimball, Miss Hazel Kimball.

Judges of the fair were Arthur Tucker, Miss Hazel Kimball, Arthur Tucker, Miss Hazel Kimball, Arthur Tucker, Miss Hazel Kimball, Arthur Tucker, Miss Hazel Kimball.

Neat shelves in the center of the hall replaced the tables of past years and held the farm products from many gardens together with attractive collections of canned products. Vegetables were shown by Ed Kimball, Bethel; Abner Tucker, Albert H. Rice, Lehigh, Norway; North Waterford; Arthur Proctor, Waterford; Elmer E. Allen; Amos McKen, showed 22 jars of vegetables and fruit. Charles Morse, Waterford, had a large variety of vegetables nicely displayed, the Lord Farm, Waterford, was well represented.

Mrs. Lydia L. Shedd was one of the largest individual exhibitors, with an attractive setting for her farm products. Mrs. Shedd had seed beans, canned products, golden butter, honey and comb, made a display good to look upon. A collection of sea shells and souvenirs added a bit of color to the picture.

Free hand drawing and color work done in the North Waterford school was attractive and worthy a place in larger exhibitions.

The embroidery and fancy work was conspicuous, J. Henry Briggs of Albany, Mrs. L. E. McIntire, Mrs. Arthur Tucker, Isabel Jones and Mrs. W. L. Flint were among the prize winners for the best display of embroidery. Mrs. Maxine Elliott, play. Other exhibitors were Maxine Elliott, Mrs. Leona Kimball, Edith Littlefield, Melrose Littlefield, Ruth Morse, Isabelle H. Hersey, Elizabeth Holt, Norma Grover.

There was a good display of flowers by E. E. Allen, Mrs. Tucker, and C. A. Hersey.

Miss Hazel Bicknell of "The Fashion Shop," Norway, had a large showing of fall styles in hats, both velvet and felt. Mrs. Freeland of Bridgton also had several samples of hats.

Clayton Pike, Waterford, demonstrated a Crossley radio set for which he is agent. This was put to a practical test, Saturday night, the broadcast of the World Series was received and relayed to the public through a loud speaker set in one of the windows of the hall. Pike also entertained the dance patrons each evening.

Just outside the hall a small collection of poultry included three coops of White Wyandottes from Lord's Poultry Farm; pured Red Rock and Buff Cochins raised by Mrs. Rena B. Henley; and geese by Abner B. Kimball.

PULLING
Steers and a yoke of bulls had the right of way on the first day and made some excitement along the road. Four classes appeared: Ernest Brown, 204 ft. 5 in.; Irving Green, 118 ft. 5 in.; Chas. Leonard, 83 ft. 7 in.

Three year old section, having appeared in Norway Opera House against Truman and other mat artists. Matching Rufford and Bridgton wrestlers against this condition champion naturally boomed the game. Their arguments on the platform outside drew the curious, and at times a free-for-all seemed ready to break out. This small wrestling business was good business and many fall nights were good business and many fall nights were good business.

Henry Downs, a familiar figure at fairs the past forty years, was on hand as porter, with the corn brush. The game pays him well.

FEEDING THE CROWD
Dinners and suppers were served in the Congregational Church vestry as in years past. Mrs. Charles A. Hasey, president of the Ladies' Circle, was in charge.

Automobile traffic opposite Rice Tavern was just here late Saturday afternoon. There would have been perfect snarl but for the assistance of State Highway Police, George Coleman and Eugene Stevens. Traffic in the direction of Waterford was handled by Ralph Knight and others.

Dancing was one of the principal diversions. Friday night and all day Saturday there were crowds at the I. O. O. F. hall where Shaw's orchestra and Paris kept modern steps moving. At the Grange Hall, Newell Andrews' orchestra played for dancing and attracted large patronage. Hobson's Pavillion was open for the sport, Friday and Saturday nights.

A motion picture, "The Triumph of Justice," was shown Saturday evening in the Congregational Church. A small admission fee was charged and a good sized crowd attended.

W. L. Button, the secretary, was everywhere during the show, and a help to newspaper reporters seeking information. He was a tireless worker and endeavored to shape up the premium lists and get his work on a sound basis.

We hope to establish real fair grounds some day. We remember one of the officers. We inferred that some $1200 is collected with tags and ground rental, but premium and some overhead expenses eat into this. The remainder is banked for the purpose of buying land sometime.

The pulling ring has been established some yards up road beyond the church. This arrangement was a convenient place to passing traffic, but a slight rise near the start is not so easy for teams hauling some 4,000 pounds. There is some danger of standing room in the elevated crowd near the road.

One person guessed 3,000 automobiles were about the grounds or near at hand. This may be a fairly accurate estimate, for cars were everywhere, and the parking, just a scramble especially at going home time.

PREMIUMS AWARDED

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Stanley have returned from Lewiston where they were present at their daughter Carolyn's student at Bates College, who had the misfortune to fracture her ankle.

Ruth E. Gerner is taking a course at the Katherine Gibbs School in Boston. Allen M. Chellis has a position in Portland.

Rich star Fair was patronized by quite a number of Keweenaw Falls people who were much pleased with the exhibit.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Willis of Lewiston and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Wright of Newry, who were present, were recent guests of their daughter, Allen Gerner. Mr. and Mrs. Wright returned to Florida the past week, taking Mrs. Mitchell of Lewiston, Mrs. Wright's mother with them.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mahoney and brother James Mahoney, also their sister, Mrs. Lizzie Weymouth and son Ned, all of So. Paris, were welcome callers on friends in town recently.

The Ladies Circle which met with Mrs. W. T. Norton, Sept. 28, was well attended. Flowers and refreshments were served. After the annual election of officers which was simply a re-election of the present board, ice cream and cake was served by the hostess.

The Circle held the annual Harvest supper in the vestry on the evening of Sept. 29th. The vestry was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and bouquets of flowers. The supper was in line with the theme, "The Harvest of the Year." There were many good things too numerous to mention. Sociability was the order of the day. About thirty-seven dollars were realized.

Why be as a little child—Matthew 18:4.

NORTH WATERFORD
Many Visitors in the Homes of North Waterford People During the World's Fair.

Slaney Hatch and family and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kimball of Bridgton, attended the fair here Saturday, and stopped over night with Mrs. C. A. Marston.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Hazleton and his mother, Mrs. Hannah Hazleton, and Mrs. Elizabeth Ward attended the funeral of his uncle, Weston Hazleton, of Lovell, Wednesday afternoon.

Harry Brown and family stopped at their cottage at the Pond and took in the fair.

Annie B. Hazleton picked a cup of blueberries, Oct. 6, that were as fresh and nice as in their season.

Lillian Bisbee of Norway called on her aunt, Mrs. E. J. Paige, Sunday.

Children from Milan, N. H., were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Farmer and attended the fair.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ward and Mrs. H. M. Hazleton have been stopping with Annie Hazleton through the fair.

There will be another Grange dance, Saturday night, with good music.

The Grangers held dances at their hall Friday and Saturday nights of the fair, with good attendance. First class music coming of Newell Andrews and son, Charles, violin, his daughter, Jennie, piano, Burnham Rice, drums, and Mr. Rolfe, of Bethel, Saxophone. All had a fine time.

Hugh Bethel, who lived here when a child, but now of Auburn, was here at the fair and his many friends were glad to see him here again.

Sumner and Mrs. Flora Nason are visiting at Jessa Littlefield's.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Rice opened up the Hotel through the fair and let rooms for out of town guests. Mrs. Ellen Parker and Mrs. Catherine Saunders served meals in the house vacated by John Will; Mrs. Fred Hersey and Mrs. Wilbur Butten let rooms and served meals, and

The sisters had not all been together for several years so was a happy gathering.

HAY FOR POOR LANDS
Where it is necessary to raise hay on poor clay lands, orchard grass, tall oatgrass, and alsike mixture probably give the best results. In some places in the Middle West sweet clover does well under unpromising soil conditions. There are no perennial hay plants that will produce well on poor sandy soils. No one should make a practice of growing hay for market on poor land.
